INTOUCH

You have searched me, LORD, and you know me.

October 2025

Dear Friends

Thank you for your warm welcome to myself, Wendy and Sam. We really appreciate the care and good wishes – and lift you up in prayer and faith.

Please bear with me over the next months as we go on a journey together – and be aware I have a terrible memory, especially for names! So please keep reminding me!

The journey we go on is a journey of faith and hope as we walk in the present to the uncertainty of the future - uncertainty which can plant fears as we walk into the unknown, but which can also birth new opportunities, realise fresh hopes and bring peace.

Let us walk this path together, not knowing where the path of life will take us, but holding onto the assurance that we are not alone. We walk with God! We trust God's promises and cherish his love and the love we share with those around us...

... and if we stumble or fall we are part of the family of God who, I pray, will continue to lift and hold each other in prayer and fellowship and grace... This is who we are called to be!

We do not know what tomorrow brings, but we do know the One who holds the future in His hands! Therefore, as scripture (2 Cor 5:7) says:

“We walk by faith and not by sight”

May we walk together on the path of life, in union with God, following The Way of Jesus – and be something beautiful in our world.

Blessings in Christ, Jem

From the Editor

Currently I am at Tuesday Coffee Morning wondering what to share with you. So here goes

Next week, God willing, I am going to St Just in Cornwall but obviously that has not happened yet - therefore, I will focus on last night's Core Bible Study where we looked at Psalm 139 and Psalm 8. These are a few ideas/views that came from last night's study:

- Don't worry about how you would react if you suddenly met our Lord, because he already knows you so intimately – 'your knowledge of me is too deep.'
- Appreciate how awesome, amazing and exciting our Lord is. He knew us and our own children before we/they were even conceived. If the birth of a child is Championship League amazing, then the excitement that God knows already of the conception of a future child must be Premier League.
- It's incredible to understand how God knows us, and humbling to be reminded that God is God, and we are human – 'made a little lower than the angels and crowned with glory and honour.'
- Thank you, God, for your agape love; totally boundless, undeserved love and a love that we cannot earn.

I could write much more about Bible Study, but the Lord knows that my concentration span for this writing has waned, and my mind is selfishly yearning for a complete break. An escape to the sea, sand, big blue skies, fish and chips and beer!

God Bless
Richard

New to our church?

It is wonderful that so many people have come here recently and are becoming familiar faces, making friends and coming back! It is great to see you. We hope that you feel welcome.

Please make yourself known to our Stewards or Meet and Greet Team so that they can give you more information about what goes on here at Kingswinford. If you would like to be included on our Pastoral List so that we can keep in touch and offer you pastoral care, please speak to our Minister, Rev Jem Hawkins, or Pastoral Co-ordinator, Elaine Panchal. Contact details can be found on the back page.

Second and Fourth Saturday Prayers

October 11th and 25th at 9.00 am in the Parlour or follow the link on the website to join via Zoom.

Come and join us as we pray for individuals, our church and circuit, the community we serve and situations across the world. You can also join by praying with the Prayer Chain, by receiving requests via WhatsApp or email. If you or someone you know requires prayer, then please send requests to Melanie – contact details on the last page.

During October, we will celebrate our harvest festival. It is a time to give thanks for the abundant gifts of God's creation. It is also a time to recognise that, due to the damage inflicted on creation by human thoughtlessness, harvests across the globe have been negatively impacted. The UK harvest is expected to be the fifth worst ever after one of the driest springs in 100 years hit yields. World harvests for all crops, apart from rice, are expected to reduce in yield by 2050 because of the effects of global warming. So, as we give thanks for the gifts of God's creation, let us also pray for the farmers worldwide whose livelihoods are affected. Let us use October to turn to God in repentance and prayerfully consider how we might play our part in reversing climate change and ensuring that the abundance of the harvest God intends is realised for all.

Homelessness Sunday - 5 October 2025

Debbie Westwood

Homelessness Sunday is an annual event organised by Housing Justice, where churches and communities across the UK come together to raise awareness, reflect, and take action to address homelessness. It is marked on the Sunday before World Homeless Day on 10 October. This seeks to promote good ideas and share what's been achieved. It also advocates for improved policies and funding that can prevent and end homelessness.

The Methodist Church Housing and Homelessness Group are seeking to play their part in guiding the Methodist Church and the part Methodists can play nationally to end homelessness.

In July, the Methodist Conference in Telford agreed to the memorial proposed by this group. In part it said:

- (i) that genuinely affordable homes and emergency accommodation is an integral part of the mission of The Methodist Church as a sign of the gospel of Jesus Christ and as an outworking of our commitment to be a justice seeking church.
- (ii) The Conference strongly encourages Methodist people to consider what more they can do to tackle the housing and homelessness crisis in their area.

At Kingswinford we continue to support our local hostel - Saltbrook Place, Lye. We send an Aldi voucher each month to support their Wednesday 'Tea and Toast' get together. On 3 September myself, Linda and Judith went and served bacon sandwiches, toast, fruit, and hot drinks. They were also treated to a selection of home baked cakes, thanks to Judith and Linda.

We were working on one small grill and at times had quite a queue. Jamie, Paul, and Richard were amongst a number patiently waiting while we caught up on the backlog of orders.

Linda braved the heat of the grill; Judith was on the pass, and I filled in with drinks and other bits. The residents and staff really appreciated it. Dean said, 'these are the best bacon sarnies I've ever had.' Another man said it was the first thing he'd eaten in 3 days. We were privileged to have the opportunity to chat to the residents whilst cooking. They thanked us for going, and we were asked when we would be back. It would be good to make this a monthly event. If anyone else can offer their time, please let me know. It runs Wednesdays 12.00 pm – 2.00 pm.

At the time of writing, the future of the scheme is still unknown. It is hoped that another provider will take it on, as Midland Heart's contract is due to finish at the end of September. Please hold the staff and residents in your prayers at this uncertain time for all of them.

There are other opportunities to help as individuals. If you see someone homeless, please don't ignore them. Homeless people often feel faceless and not valued. A simple 'hello' and a quick word could make all the difference. You could offer a drink or some food if you feel comfortable enough to do so. If you are concerned about someone who is sleeping rough, you can contact Street Link on 0300 500 0914 or online <https://thestreetlink.org.uk> They will contact the local homeless services who will try to locate the person and put them in touch with groups who can provide support.

In Matthew 25 we hear the words 'When did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?' The King will reply, 'I tell you, whenever you did this for one of the least important of these followers of mine, you did it for me!'

Refugee Bags...

Following on from the success of our 'Bags for New Mums' project, and the support we have been giving to Saltbrook Place, the Outreach group is delighted that together the church family succeeded in creating 30 bags for teenagers who, through no fault of their own, find themselves as strangers in the foreign land of Dudley Borough schools!

Thank you to everyone who helped in any way! This has been a real opportunity to make a difference and share the message that together we can make the world a better place for all.

The bags were dedicated at the Sept AAW before being distributed with the help of Pegasus Academy, Dudley. The Vice Principal at Pegasus is delighted and has asked for permission to "do some socials" as the bags are distributed, so look out for the photos on their Facebook pages.

Kingswinford Methodist Men's Group

Normally meet on the first Wednesday of the month. In October they are meeting on Wednesday 8th, to give more notice. Bob Allaway has invited us to visit his model railway. As there is not much room in his garage 'hobby-room', we may need to do this in two shifts. Please let Richard Walters know if you are coming, to sort out times, lifts and location.

60th Birthday Celebrations

How are you getting on with the list of 60 things to do this year to mark the church's 60th birthday next June?

The Ashmores and Walters have ticked off number 29. They enjoyed an afternoon on the Severn Valley Railway.

Autumn offers the chance to tick off a few more – going for a walk; collecting conkers; stay in and knit a hat or build a model.

Please contact Megan if you would like a copy of the list but are unable to pick one up.

Thank you. Have fun and do share what you have been up to. We would love to see how you're getting on.

Autumn days when the grass is jewelled,
And the silk inside a chestnut shell,
Scent of gardens when the rain's been falling
All these things I know so well,
So I mustn't forget to say a great big thank you.

(Phrases from Singing the Faith 121 Estelle White)

To God be the glory great things He has done

Have a look at the wonderful world as the season changes

Autumn provides a feast of colour

Name and give thanks for the changes you notice.

Know that in all the changes of life God remains constant

Yesterday, today and forever, Jesus is the same (Hebrews 13:8)

Offer a prayer of thanks for God's faithfulness

Unite with all creation in giving praise to God our Creator.

Opportunities to serve.....

So be good servants and use your gifts to serve each other. The person who serves should serve with the strength that God gives. You should do these things so that in everything God will be praised through Jesus Christ.
1 Peter 4:10-11

Could you be a Steward or a Sunday Steward? If so, speak to John Mearman.

Could you read during services? If so, Derek Siviter would be delighted to hear from you.

Calling all fundraisers – it's our 60th year – could you get together with like-minded souls and plan a fundraiser or two? Speak to Esme Ashmore.

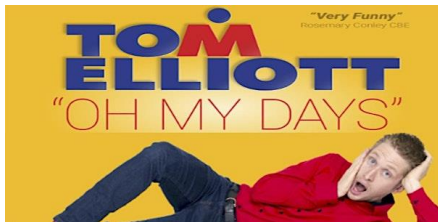

Are you interested in the mission and outreach work of the church? Could you join the Outreach group? If so, speak to Melanie Walters.

If you are keen to engage with any of these opportunities and you don't know the person named, just speak to any of the Meeters and Greeters at the door or any of the Stewards and they will point you in the right direction.

Sunday 31st August - 10.30am Guest Service – Tom Elliott

When I heard about the plans for this service and read the magazine article I thought 'well that's different!' I wondered how it would be supported and what form the service might take.

Just to recap, the service was to be centred around Tom Elliott who is a Christian comedian and magician who uses his skills to share his faith. Not for the first time I need not have worried.

The short ItL Praise Time before the main event was well supported and when the service itself started there was a larger number than usual in the congregation, but even more encouraging was the number of new faces - including children - who had been attracted by the publicity.

Tom's set started with some normal tricks as performed by the late great Paul Daniels which caused much astonishment and bafflement. (How did that lady's ring get inside the Kinder egg??)

He finished with a spectacular demonstration of levitation with 4 men lying backwards supported by well nothing!

Melanie then interviewed Tom about his faith and how he uses his magician skills to spread his message - not just in churches but other venues too - and gives an opportunity to invite people who find church intimidating and don't normally come.

Please read the Church Times magazine article again and perhaps visit his website for further information.

The Not-so-Good Samaritan – Dave Walker

We never socialised much in our street. I've lived there nearly 40 years and, as far as I can remember, it's always been like that.

When the kids were small my husband and I both seemed too busy with work and family issues to cultivate any close friendship, or association of any sort really, with the rest of the people living alongside us.

Later on, the children moved out to pastures new and eventually we both retired. And, even then, we still didn't seem to have much contact with the neighbours. I guess it was the same for everyone else because this seemed to be the norm. We never popped round to see each other; and we never passed each other in the street and said 'good morning' because we all went everywhere in our cars. Living in a busy street you couldn't hear yourself speak, let alone start chatting.

When Frank died, I began to keep myself to myself even more. One day, however, I did manage to get out to the local library for a talk about home security by a very nice policewoman. She reminded everyone to remember to lock up properly every time every time we went out and told us never to leave our windows open, even if we were just going up the road to the shops. She said we should never make it widely known if we were going to be away for any length of time; we should never let in strangers, except by appointment; and we should always ask callers for proper identification. Furthermore, during the evening we should never open the door to any unexpected visitors, no matter what the circumstances.

A few days later, around 8.30 in the evening – just as the sun was going down over the back of our house – there was a loud knocking on my front door and some sort of cry for help. I didn't know what to do but, in the end, decided to sit tight and not answer the door, just as the policewoman had said.

The knocking stopped, then I heard the caller's footsteps carrying on along the pavement. A few seconds later the silence was broken by the noise of shouting and running, as what seemed like a gang of people came charging past my house

What on earth could have happened, I wondered?? The next day I found out.

Apparently, a badly beaten youth had been chased down our street and had knocked on several doors asking for help, without any success. Receiving no reply, he had carried on to the park where he had been caught by his pursuers and left bleeding from stab wounds under the children's slide.

He was found the following morning and taken to hospital but had sadly died a few hours later.

The news about his death was in the papers the next day and the story about his calls for help going unheeded by the residents of our street came out when the inquest was held.

Some people criticised us for not responding to the cries for help. Others felt, all things considered, we did the right thing otherwise we too might have become victims of the gang chasing him.

As for me, I thought we got it wrong. I feel we could – and should – have done more!

An autumnal recipe Judith Tyler

Carrot Parsnip and Orange Soup

Ingredients:

2 large carrots (approx 12 oz / 300 kg) – peeled and cut into chunks
2 large parsnips (approx 12 oz / 300 kg) – peeled and cut into chunks
1 medium onion – finely chopped
1 tbsp sunflower or olive oil
½ tsp ground ginger
500 ml (1 pint) vegetable or chicken stock
250ml (½ pint) orange juice
Salt and pepper to taste

1. Heat the oil in a medium-sized saucepan. Gently fry the onion for a few minutes then add the prepared carrots and parsnips.
2. Stir in ground ginger, stock and orange juice. Bring to the boil, then turn down the heat and simmer for about 30 minutes, or until vegetables are tender.
3. Puree the soup – using a food processor, liquidiser or hand blender. Add more stock if necessary, for the required consistency. Season to taste.

Let's end with a Loff.....

A little boy was playing outside with his mother's broom in the garden. That night his mother realised her broom was still missing and asked her son to go out and bring it in. When the little boy confessed he was afraid of the dark, his mother tried to comfort him: 'The Lord is out there too, don't be afraid.' Hesitantly, the little boy opened the back door and peered out. He called softly: 'Lord, since you're out there already, please will you pass me the broom?'

A young clergyman, fresh out of training, thought it would help him better understand the harsh realities his future congregations faced if he first took a job as a policeman for several months. He passed the physical examination; then came the oral exam to test his ability to act quickly and wisely in an emergency. Among other questions he was asked, "What would you do to disperse a frenzied crowd?" He thought for a moment and then said, "I would pass an offering plate." He got the job.

They knew it was left over from the Harvest Festival, but not what it was, or where...
